

U. S. EXPERTS LEAD WAR ON FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE

This is Dr. U. G. Houck of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, (left) who has been placed by Secretary Wallace in complete command of the fight being effectively waged on the foot and mouth disease outbreak in California, and G. H. Hecke, director Department of Agriculture, State of California, who is assisting Dr. Houck in quickly and permanently stamping out the epidemic.

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—The full force of the United States government has been brought into play effectively against the foot and mouth disease in California. The disease has been confined to certain limited districts in the state and the work of stamping it out is proceeding rigorously under the direction of Dr. U. G. Houck, personal representative of Secretary Wallace, department of agriculture, who has complete control of the combined federal and state forces. "Every method justified by our past experience and by scientific study is being used to prevent any possibility of spread of the disease and to wipe it out so thoroughly that there will be no chance of its recurrence," said Dr. Houck. "There is no danger of spread of the disease through shipment of fruits, vegetables or dairy products from the great non-infected areas of California. We know of no instance where the disease has been carried by such shipments," Dr. Houck said.

Complete confidence in the men in the field was expressed by Dr. J. R. Mohler, chief of the bureau of animal industry, United States department of agriculture, in a message he has just sent to Dr. Houck and the local federal inspectors. "We have in California," he said, "the best equipped force of inspectors that was ever assembled on a foot and mouth detail."

"Our methods are not experimental, but have been weighed in the balance of practical experience and have always produced the desired results."

Winnebago Indians Like to Wear Fancy Clothes

As clothing the early Winnebago wore a breechclout, moccasins, leggings and robes of dressed skins. The advent of the French trader added to their dress, but at all times we find both men and women combing their hair straight back, parted in the middle and tied behind their heads in braids, later decorated by ribbons. Thomas Anderson, who spent a winter trading with them on the Rock river in 1802, said that they were the most filthy, most obstinate and bravest people of any Indian tribe. When the French came they added blankets to their garb, white for winter and bright colors for the summer.

In the governor's reception room in the state capitol at Madison, Wis., the surrender of the noted Chief Red Bird, which ended the Winnebago war in 1825, is cleverly depicted. Red Bird, the prisoner, is pictured as having one side of his face painted red, the other intermixed with green and white, clothed in a Yankton suit of dressed elk skin, perfectly white and as soft as a kid glove. It consisted of a jacket, ornamented with a fringe of the same material and enriched with blue beads.

On his feet he wears moccasins, and on each shoulder, in place of an epaulette, is fastened a stuffed red bird. Around his neck hang strands of wampum of various lengths, and he holds a war pipe in his hand, ornamented with dyed horse hair and feathers of birds.—Detroit News.

Made-Over Bush Nut Can Be Easily Opened

For many years the delicious bush nut of Australia, known variously as the Australian, Queensland and polar nut, has baffled horticulturists. It had a rare and delicate flavor, was a food for an epicure, but its shell was about the hardest known to mankind.

The size of a small pigeon's egg, brown and shiny, one might jump on it and hammer it with one's heel without leaving the faintest impression save on the heel. Something in the nature of a blacksmith's hammer and anvil was required to smash the shell.

After years of disappointing experiments in various parts of the world official word comes that J. S. Waldron, who lives on the south coast of New South Wales, has produced a thin-shelled bush nut. Several plant generations have demonstrated the success of the new nut, according to the Queensland government botanist and the director of fruit culture, who inspected the Waldron farm.

The made-over bush nut is said to retain the flavor and the indestructible shell has been replaced by one that may be opened with reasonable facility.—Detroit News.

LIGHTS USED ON DIFFERENT CARS

(By ERWIN GREER, President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago.)

The lightning bug is brilliant
But it hasn't any mind,
For it blunders through existence
With its headlight on behind.

Poor little lightning bug's headlight is standard equipment, as is his one speed (forward) transmission. Consequently Nature, not he, is to blame. Regardless of his defect the title of my story stands pat. I still maintain that there are headlights on the front of an automobile just as there are light heads behind the steering wheel. To illustrate.

Jones used to buy bulbs for his car which either threw out as much illumination as a glow worm, or burnt out almost immediately. It cost him quite some money before he found that even the ornery little headlight bulb had to be humored exactly as did the engine.

What Jones didn't know was that every car has an individual lighting system of either a six-volt, twelve-volt or eighteen-volt plant; that the manufacturer either connected each lamp socket to two separate wires (double contact base), or used the metal frame-work of the car for return, running only one wire to each socket (single contact base).

House Lamps Uniform.

Jones thought that motor lamps could be bought as one buys his house lamps. That lamps for home lighting were uniform in certain communities. That both cellar and parlor lights were of the same voltage? He was right about the home lighting, but wrong about his automobile lamps.

One day he ran into an accessory store where the salesman knew his business. This chap passed Jones a few questions that got him all bawled up:

"What voltage is your battery? Do you want a single or a double contact lamp and what candle power? Or, do you want a B or C lamp?" inquired the salesman.

"I don't know," stammered Jones, "I thought—"

"But you shouldn't guess at an important thing like that," snapped the salesman. "It's fellows like you that buy blindly and then run down the lamp manufacturer simply because you don't know what type lamp is needed. You can't buy any of our lamps until you find out what kind your car should carry."

Jones Acknowledged Mistake.

Jones went home furious. As soon as he quit seeing red he dug up the car's instruction book and started to read it. Interested, he went over to the local library and made a thorough study of motor lamps in general. Then he went back to this salesman and bought his lamps, apologized, thanked him for saving him future money, and installed the new lamps. His lighting troubles have all disappeared. He acknowledges that he was at fault—that he went about his headlight troubles with a light head—and that the manufacturer did make good lamps.

Reader, are you in Jones' predicament, or did you become acquainted with your lamps in time to save money and temper? That salesman sure had the right idea. He woke Jones up and Jones reciprocated by becoming a steady customer.

GROUP CEREMONIAL

Wednesday, May 20, the Twan Ek Ata group of Camp Fire Girls under the guidance of Miss Elizabeth Cameron and Miss Gertrude McCracken had a ceremonial at the Grammar school, assisted by Mrs. Louis Shelley and four of the girls from the Wah-Wah Tayse group. Ruth Matteson, Frances Duncan, Beulah Finnimore and Ruth Townsend.

The honors won in the past month were given to the girls at this time. They have worked hard and much credit is due their guardians.

The girls under Miss Cameron and Miss McCracken are Vesta Blyther, Lillian Archibald, Dorothy Clark, Helen Buck, Anita Strom, Josephine Stallman, Phoebe Payne, Miriam Blaine, Fern Evans, Carlyn Lund.

Both Campbell Camp Fire groups attended the General Grand Council at Mrs. Lieb's garden, San Jose, May 17.

I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO THE REPUBLIC

As next week is Memorial Day and two weeks later is Flag Day, it is fitting to call attention to the proper display of our national banner.

These rules were adopted by a commission representing over 68 organizations and have been officially adopted by 45 others. While not having official government sanction they represent the authoritative opinion of the principal patriotic bodies of the United States and of the army and navy experts.

At present we are giving only a few of the regulations which our readers may need to know.

When displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs the U. S. flag should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff in front of the other. As you face it, the U. S. flag would be to your left.

When a flag of the U. S. is displayed in a manner other than by being flown from a staff it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right, i. e. to the observer's left.

When in a window, the same, i. e. with the blue field to the left of the observer in the street. When festoons, rosettes or drapings of blue, white and red are desired use bunting, but never the flag.

When displayed over a street between buildings—vertically, with union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in a north and south street.

When flown at half mast the flag is first hoisted to the peak, and then lowered to the half staff position, but before lowering for the day it is again raised to peak. On Memorial Day it stays at half staff from sunrise to noon and at full staff from noon to sunset.

On a speaker's platform the flag should be above and behind the speaker—never to cover the desk or draped over the front of the platform. If on a staff, at the speaker's right.

In church it should be from a staff on the congregation's right as they face the clergyman, except within the chancel it should be the opposite.

The pledge of allegiance was also slightly changed and should be noted by those still using the old form:

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands, One Nation indivisible, with Liberty and Justice for all."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The athletes from Campbell School are practicing for the County Field Meet which will be held May 24, but it is postponed till 7. All the schools of the county are taking part in it and it will be held at Reed Field, San Jose.

The girl's baseball team played a game with Mountain View Thursday, May 15, and won but lost the game played with the same team Monday, May 19.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS AT GRAND COUNCIL

The Cherokee group of Camp Fire Girls accompanied by their guardian, Miss Elizabeth Turner, and some of their mothers, attended the third grand council at the home of Mrs. Leib on the Alameda Saturday, May 17.

They enjoyed the exercises very much which consisted of saluting the American and Camp Fire Flags, the lighting of the candles which represent work, health, and love, the stunts of the various groups, awarding of honors and singing Camp Fire songs. The Cherokee group was 100% and was awarded the rank of Woddgatherers.

Dr. Kapp, the president of the organization gave an interesting talk and thanked Mrs. Leib for the privilege of meeting on her grounds.

Mrs. Louis Shelley urged the girls to attend the camp at Swanton in August.

The love candle was extinguished by Clara Rice of Campbell and the girls marched out singing "The Sun is Sinking in the West."

BOY HURT IN AUTO COLLISION

Lawrence Ferro, oldest son of Antone Ferro, is considerably bruised but thanking his lucky stars that he is with us since an auto crash Wednesday afternoon.

Joe and Manuel Homen were coming home in their auto when near the county hospital they crashed into a load of lumber being hauled by W. Finnimore. The lumber which extended out behind cranked thru the windshield, one piece hitting Lawrence, who was sitting in the middle, in the face. Dr. Wilson of the County hospital was at that moment passing and took the boy to the hospital where immediate care was given. The doctor reported the nasal bone and front upper jaw bone broken.

Another timber caught the clothing of Joe on his left side, tearing it off and giving him but a minor scratch. The boys can't tell just how it happened, it was all so sudden, but feel that their guardian angels were surely on the job that time. Evidently the brake failed to hold the car.

HONOR GUEST

Mrs. George Raymond was the honored guest at an afternoon given by Mrs. C. H. Davidson Tuesday, May 20.

Mrs. Raymond, of Akron, Ohio, will return Monday, May 26, and her many friends made while spending a year in our midst wish her good-bye and a speedy return.

Tuesday was given over to mah jongg and a social time out on the lawn under Mrs. Davidson's prized redwood tree.

Mrs. Raymond in her sunny genial way, graciously responded to all the wishes for her return.

The ladies who enjoyed the afternoon were Mesdames George Raymond, L. B. Davidson, A. Standish, A. Toll, Swanson, J. Beal, J. K. Tate, T. H. Corning, and C. H. Davidson.

CLUB PICNIC WED.

The Moreland Good Will Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Geo. Smith May 14. Mrs. McBride read an article from the Missionary Herald "From the Earthquake Cities of Japan," and Mrs. Owen, one by Will Rogers entitled "Applesauce Test for Diplomats," appearing in the New York Sunday Times.

The Battle of the Booms by Ed Streeter was read by Mrs. Bean.

The next meeting will be the annual picnic which will be held with Mrs. Mark Smith at Morgan Hill, May 28.

ANNUAL OPERETTA BIG SUCCESS

"The Gypsy Rover" the annual operetta of the C. H. S. was presented Friday at the auditorium to a capacity house. The stage settings were very good, the opening scene, a gypsy camp in the woods, was very prettily portrayed and the costuming was very good. The lighting effects throughout added materially to the effectiveness of setting and were the work of Albert Turner.

For the second and third scenes which took place in a room in the home of Sir George, the beautiful stage hangings were used with attractive wicker furniture and accessories.

The score demanded a number of soloists, who were well chosen for their parts and the production passed off very well and evidenced hard work on the part of the participants and the directors.

The several choruses were all very effective both as to dress and performance—one group arrayed as gypsies, another as a hunting chorus, a third in summer attire and still another in evening gowns.

Rob and the children in the Fairyland song were very pleasing, and the little scene between Sinfo and Marto gave a touch of humor that was enjoyable as did also the part of Lord Craven. The song and dance of Zara and Sinfo were also very good.

Of the many charming solos and other numbers it is impossible to comment in detail, as the entire program and cast have already been published, but all merit praise.

Prof. Halamicek, director of music, and Miss Marion Jenkins and Miss Violet Otterman were the principal instructors and that they had spent time and energy on its success was clearly evident.

PIANO RECITAL WELL ATTENDED

Among the many events of music week one of special merit was the piano recital of Saturday evening at Sherman & Clay's hall when Mrs. Emily Pannell Gard presented her pupil, Miss Patrice Smith.

The platform was beautified with bowls of roses in long sprays, which made a pretty setting for a very delightful concert.

Miss Smith is an artist of remarkable talent which she has cultivated with earnest zeal.

One of the unusual features of her program was that it was given entirely from memory, a great accomplishment for so young a student, presenting such difficult numbers.

The hall was well filled with friends and patrons of music, who showered both pupil and teacher with praise and congratulations, for the finished and sympathetic rendering of all the numbers but particularly of the long and exacting duo which concluded the program.

Miss Smith has indeed a very promising future in the musical world, having great natural ability and the patient perseverance necessary to great success in any field.

RAH! FOR PERRY

Perry Shelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shelley and a member of last year's graduating class, has won a scholarship in the school of engineering of the U. C. where he has been attending this year. This scholarship entitles the winner to $200 and is awarded for high standings in that department and for character and is awarded to a student who is helping earn his own way. It is indeed a great honor and his host of friends are rejoicing with him. During this summer he is doing intersession work in the metal work shop.

RADIO AND BOY LIFE

Home life has its ups and downs. Conditions in the time of our fathers favored it. There was less going on then, fewer amusements. People settled down evenings under the living room lamp, while the grown-ups read and the youngsters had a high old time over their games.

Of recent years, entertainments and club life have developed. The kids have so many engagements that they need private secretaries to keep track of them. Some of their time is frittered away in futile entertainments. Yet they have very superior opportunities, and learn much from good community organizations.

Many of the boys have worried their mothers very badly up to a recent time, by their dislike for the quiet life of their home. It seemed terribly dull to them to settle down under the evening lamp, when they could go to some thrilling show, or train with the smart guys along the curbstones.

But now a new force is working to make home life more popular with these fellows. Many of them have become keenly interested in equipping radio sets, and in the things they hear over the ether waves.

The boy who last year was standing on the curbstone and spitting into the gutter, may now be spending his time trying to reach the distant cities of the country with his instruments. It is a new and thrilling pleasure. While last year you could hardly get him to stay at home, this year he may be restless until he gets back and sees what he can tune in for to-night.

It is a peculiarly useful interest for boys, since it stimulates their ingenuity and encourages a fellow to do things himself instead of watching some else do things. The fellow who has acquired skill in handling these instruments ought to be one who would show initiative in his occupation when he gets to work.

BOOSTING

Boosting is the cheapest commodity on the market. And yet it does more actual good for the individual and the community than the expenditure of thousands of dollars.

Some people are natural born boosters. Others have to cultivate the art. But whatever it takes, it is certainly worth the effort.

But boosting doesn't consist simply of talk. The real booster has also to be a "doer". Your booster is the fellow who is back of the civic program. He is the man who attends mass meetings, reads his paper and otherwise keeps himself informed on what is going on. The booster is slow to criticize. There are plenty of things with which he is not in hearty accord. But he takes the time and pains to equip himself with the facts before he starts talking.

The booster knows there are two sides to every question. And he knows the other fellow may be right at least part of the time. For that reason he tries to get the mass perspective on any question which concerns others besides himself. He is forever asking himself the question: Will this thing react for the general good of the most?

The smallest individual in the community is the man who, for various reasons is forced to live on in a place about which he hasn't one good thing to say. The fellow who is forever making disparaging comments about his city and neighbors in not a very valuable citizen, any way one looks at it.

But the booster never overlooks a chance to cast a vote in city, county, state and national elections.

WHEN WAR KILLS WAR

A nationally-known manufacturer of airplanes makes the significant statement that the development of aircraft, complement and poisonous gases since the war has been so phenomenal as to be in itself virtually an assurance against war because of the wholesale and uncanny destruction of human life made possible by science and invention. He goes on to assert that it would be possible to drop from a plane one gas bomb that within twenty-four hours would wipe out the entire population of a city the size of New York.

Thus we see the next war, if there really is a next, can not last very long; for the appalling destruction of life and enemy fortresses and implements would be so great that the end of the combatant forces would soon follow. War, like a dog chasing its own tail, would soon end itself.

It is to be hoped there is a great measure of truth in the statement; and it seems plausible. The question arises, whether or not science itself will bring a more powerful deterrent to war than moral argument, international treaties and diplomatic persuasion.

Fire destroyed the office, sheds and yards of the Anderson Lumber company at Anderson. The loss was estimated at $15,000.
An investigation to determine where the liquor was obtained which killed John E. Merton, 26, of El Verano, who, after he inoculated himself with a goat gland, drank a quantity of moonshine whisky. Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sturtevant left Tuesday for an extended camping vacation, which will take them to Yellowstone Park, which has become their favored outing spot.

Horse shoe pitchers are talking organization here and as there are a number of enthusiastic sharks about town there is no reason why Campbell can't turn out a head peg team.

Will Farum is raising the rafters for the new Martin Iron Works shop on Railroad avenue. The location is good. When the building is completed Tommy and crew should be kept busy.

Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Champlin, of Bremerton, Wash., are expected to arrive Saturday for a visit with their friends the Purmort families. They are auto touring to the south and back this summer.

C. W. Wolff returned this week from a business trip through the East in the interests of the J. C. Ainsley Packing Co. He reports that business generally is somewhat quiet due largely because of election year.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Miracle, who came home from Tahoe Friday returned there Tuesday to remain about a month during which they will build their cottage. On their return home they will move into the bungalow now occupied by the A. U. Peterson family.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Blair are visiting relatives in Campbell. Dr. Blair received his degree of doctor of Medicine from the U. C. last week and will enter the San Francisco hospital as an interne for a year. Mrs. Blair was Miss Catherine Cooper, whose wedding was an event of last June.

Emil Neprash was called home to Regent, N. D. by the illness of his grandmother. He left Saturday, his friends giving him a good start with mementos and reading material for the trip, which was much appreciated by him. Everyone who knew Emil was his friend and all hope he may later return to these parts to live.

E. E. Arnott and family have moved to Mountain View where Mr. Arnott is now employed in a wood working mill. Their relatives, the J. B. Ullom family, have moved into their house on Alice Avenue. Mr. Arnott came to Campbell several years ago and has engaged in housebuilding since but that line has slowed up in our immediate vicinity so that he decided upon the change. We always regret to lose good citizens but wish them success in the new location.

KNOW YOUR STATE

Personally conducted sight-seeing trips will be provided by the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce without charge for excursion parties from California cities, it was announced today in a letter received at the local Chamber of Commerce from Irvin Engler, Secretary-Manager of the Sacramento civic organization.

"Know your State Capital" is the slogan of this new movement by the Sacramento Chamber. In his letter Engler says:

"California has the most attractive Capitol building and the most extraordinary Capitol grounds of any state capital in the United States. Thousands of eastern tourists visit the building and grounds each year but a great number of our own Californians have never seen it. A visit to Capitol Park, with its hundreds of rare varieties of trees and plants and exceptionally beautiful surroundings, is alone worth a trip to Sacramento.

"There are other attractions, too, such as Sutter Fort the most famous of Gold Rush landmarks with its interesting collection of relics, and Crocker Art Gallery which houses one of the most valuable collections of paintings in the world.

"We urge the various clubs, societies and other organizations in California cities to arrange excursions and visit their capital. We will furnish automobiles to take on a sight-seeing trip and they will be accompanied by a lecturer who will give information on all points of interest.

"The graduating class of Livermore High School made such an excursion and was delighted over their visit. A Chico Sunday School class is also arranging an excursion. We will be glad, indeed, to co-operate with any excursion group and will make their visit well worth while."

Birds and boys, girls never (?), can testify that cherries are tasting pretty good at this season of the year.

Ernest Barron was brought home Monday and his many friends will be pleased to hear he stood the trip very well and is gaining in strength.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Driesback went to Santa Rosa Monday for a two weeks' visit with Mrs. Driesback's sister, Mrs. Huntington, and other relatives.

Next Friday is Memorial Day and will be observed locally by most of the stores, the bank and postoffice. At the latter, the regular holiday service will be in order, mail being sent out at 7:30 and to Santa Cruz at 10, and the early mail distributed to P. O. boxes. No delivery by rural carrier and the windows will not be open.

Union Memorial services will be held Sunday at the Methodist church at 11 o'clock. Rev. W. E. Eckles will have the sermon. A general invitation is extended to all to participate in this service which is the only one in Campbell where our adult citizens can honor our soldiers dead and living. All veterans of our wars are specially invited.

In the Press Office window may be seen the picture of E. S. Wakeman, Los Angeles attorney. Earl was one of the boys of the Campbell band in the days of Orchard City's smallness. Word comes to us that he has recently joined the "Sons of the American Revolution" in the southern city. He hangs his shingle at 811 Washington Bldg., Los Angeles, and according to all accounts is doing his share toward keeping things stirring in that city.

TODAY

Sure, this world is full of trouble,
I ain't said it ain't.
Lord! I've had enough, an' double,
Reason for complaint.
Rain an' storm have come to fret me
Skies were often grey;
Thorns an' brambles have beset me
On the road—but say,
Ain't it fine today!

What's the use of always weepin',
Makin' trouble last!
What's the use of always keepin'
Thinkin' of the past?
Each must have his tribulation,
Water with his wine.
Life, it ain't no celebration.
Trouble! I've had mine—
But today is fine.

It's today that I am livin',
Not a month ago,
Havin' losin', takin', givin',
As time wills it so.
Yesterday a cloud of sorrow
Fell across the way;
It may rain again tomorrow,
It may rain—but say,
Ain't it fine today!

Indians of Amazon Valley

War is the normal state of the Jibaro Indian of the Amazon valley, first, for the purpose of getting wives from neighboring or enemy tribes, second, for revenge of injuries inflicted upon relatives during wars, then for enemy heads that are supposed to bring good luck to the possessors because of the sacrifice of the victim to the devil. The heads of their enemies also become a source of income to these savage Amazonian tribes, since they are exchanged with traders for arms, ammunition, etc.

The skull is removed from the head of the decapitated enemy through a slit in the back from the neck up. The skin is then boiled to arrest putrefaction, after which it is dried and reduced in size by inserting hot stones the size of an orange. When the interior has been shrunk to the size of the stones hot sand is used to continue the process of drying and shrinking. After the process is completed, the head is hung up in the hut as a trophy and feasts are held in its honor. These miniature heads, retaining to a remarkable degree characteristic likeness to the living person, are in demand in the outside world.—Detroit News.

Real Color of Gold

Few persons are familiar with the real color of gold, because it is seldom seen except when heavily alloyed, a state in which it is much redder than when it is pure. The purest coins ever made were the $50 pieces which were once in common use in California. Their coinage was abandoned because the loss by abrasion was so great and because their interior could be bored out and filled with lead. They were octagonal in shape and were the most valuable coins ever minted and circulated. All gold is not alike when refined. Australian gold is distinctly redder than that taken in California. Moreover, placer gold is more yellow than that which is taken from quartz. This is one of the mysteries of metallurgy, because the gold in placers comes from that which is in quartz. The gold in the Ural mountains is the reddest in the world.

Spring Overhauling Is of Greatest Importance

Unfortunately, the increasing year-around use of the car has served largely to eliminate the annual spring overhauling performed by those motorists of a decade or so ago who religiously "put their cars up" for the winter. While electric lights and self-starters, hard-surfaced roads, closed bodies and other cold weather comforts have brought the modern automobile into its most effective field of usefulness, it, nevertheless, requires as rigid inspection, adjustment and general overhauling as did the "horseless carriage" ancestors of today's motorcar.

It took just twelve minutes for a jury to find G. A. Mortland, a Pasadena pawnbroker, guilty of traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour in the heart of Pasadena's business district, and but a minute or two more for the court to assess a fine of $150 against the road scorcher.

Robert Graham, superintendent of the Shasta May Blossom mine at Bully Hill, and Charles Kidder were killed in riding accidents within forty-eight hours, in Shasta county. Graham was found two miles from his camp and Kidder was picked up on a mountain trail near Fall River.

Miss Glenda Carpenter, Oroville high school student, won the high school oratorical contest at Marysville. Speakers from Red Bluff, Mendocino City, Oroville and Vallejo competed.

An unsuccessful attempt was made to rob the safe of the Jones mercantile company at Yreka. A quantity of nitro-glycerine was found.

ZEROLENE succeeds "EASTERN" and lubricates better

With the passing of the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern oils, just because they cost more, Zerolene sales have increased seven-fold in the last seven years.

The following extract from a recent letter written us by the Citizens' Transfer & Storage Company of Tucson, Arizona, has some bearing on the reasons for this increase:

"Previous to using your Zerolene oils we experienced considerable trouble with eastern oils, which were much higher in price, and we found not suited to our use. We have used Zerolene oils and greases for the past five years. Our equipment (18 trucks and 2 passenger cars) is operated continuously throughout the year and the maintenance has been confined to keeping it supplied with the proper amount of oil and grease; bearings have required only reasonable adjustment after long intervals, and no replacements. We were well pleased with our recent quarterly check on the mechanical condition of our equipment, and knowing this condition to be maintained by the use of your oils and greases, we thought your company would be interested to know of our complete satisfaction."

ZEROLENE F for FORDS

—the Standard Oil Company's new improved oil for Ford cars "Feeds Those Oil-Starved Fords."

We believe that Zerolene will improve the gasoline mileage, reduce carbon deposits, and lengthen the working life of every car in which it is used.

Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene even if it does cost less.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (CALIFORNIA)

This booklet reports independent service tests of Zerolene made by a number of large users. Ask any Standard Oil Company sales representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.
